4-H CLUB ACHIEVEMENT DAY, APPOMATTOX COUNTY, OCTOBER 16, 1947

The fourth annual 4 -H Club Achievement Day was held in Appomattox Club Oct 16, at Carver High School. The success and presentation of this program and of Achievement Day heretofor have been made possible by the full cooperation of Mr. J. A. Burke, superintendent of schools, in that Mr. Burke permitted the 4-H members from each school in the county to attend and the use of school busses as transportation to and from Carver High School, further the hard work of the adult 4-H club leaders, and the ever increasing interest and cooperation of the parents.

As an example of the progress this annual program has made, in preceeding years the Farm Agent has been faced with the problem of securing transportation of the livestock exhibits to and from the exhibit grounds; this year each 4-H member and respective parents transported their own exhibit.

The Danforth Foundation Achievement award for outstanding accomplishments and leadership, went to Bessie Williams of the Carver High 4-H Club. Bessie won the garden sweepstakes award, placed second in the state-wide garden contest, promoted by a grocery chain; and as a result was given a scholarship to the State 4-H Short Course at Va. State College.

The boy making the highest honors for the year was Evan Fleshman of Spout Springs. He excelled in a gilt project, winning top honors on Achievement Day and grand championship as to care, feeding and showmanship of his purebred Duroc gilt; also in exhibiting at the Five County Fair in which his animal won first place in her class.

Prizes awarded at the 1947 Achievement Day program consisted of $65.00 in cash, which was divided among the respective winners, also an air-rifle awarded to Raymond Williams of Carver High, one pair of field glasses to Charles Jeffries of Carver rClub, winner for the best record book, and an exercising set to Roadside Club, the 4-H Club making the largest number of exhibit entries.

The competitive booth exhibit of crop and horticultural products was the most outstanding event of the day. The winners were the Spout Springs, Vera, Stonewall 4-H Clubs respectively. $10 was awarded the winners.

The judges were: Mr. J. E. Settle, Mr. J. G. Lancaster, Mrs. Etts Smith, Mrs. Ella Anderson, Mr. C. A. Elliott, Mr. M. J. Edwards, Mr. M. L. Hardin.

He Couldn't Play Violin; So Copies Stradivarius

SALEM, ORE. — When Lawrence G. Prescott was a youth, he aspired to be a famous violinist. But an accident cost him four fingers of his left hand and his dreams vanished.

Today at 75, Prescott is one of the most skilled violin makers in the nation, but the craft is "just a profitable hobby" with him. He can't play them but he can make them.

His instruments sometimes are confused with original Stradivarius violins but it does not surprise Prescott. He works from blueprints copied from originals by the famous 17th century Italian craftsman.

Prescott's violins are made of fine-grained spruce and curly maple from the Oregon woods.
